	OFFERING THE VEILS By the late 1790s, the American, already involved by Enslavement slaves, were identified by the name of the French Revolution. The French ideal of liberty, equality, and fraternity inspired many Latin Americans to rise up against their French, Spanish, and Portuguese masters. Revolution in Haiti The French colony called Saint-Domingue was the first Latin American territory to free itself from European rule. Saint-Domingue, now known as Haiti, occupied the western third of the island of Hispaniola in the Caribbean Sea. Nearly 500,000 enslaved Africans labored to maintain the colony's population based on the backbone of the social system. Most slaves worked as plantation, and they represented such masters brutally. While masters also used brutal methods to control slaves and keep them productive, the fight for freedom the slaves were allowed that, in fact, they were not permitted. In August 1791, an African priest named Boukman called a call for revolution. Within a few days, 100,000 slaves rose in revolt. A leader soon emerged, Toussaint L'Ouverture (1743-1803) (1743-1803), an ex-slave. Toussaint was admitted to the military and in 1794, he was to become a military general and diplomat. It is said that he got the name L'Ouverture ("opening" in French) because he was so skilled at finding openings in the enemy lines. By 1801, Toussaint had secured the island Saint-Domingue (the current territory of Hispaniola). He took control of the territory and freed the slaves. In January 1802, 15,000 French troops landed in Saint-Domingue to restore Toussaint to power. Toussaint agreed to both the revolution of the French and also during the struggle the agreement. He French were allowed time of planning another opening. They could live and work free to a person in the French Alps. In that will remain but, he died 17 months later, on April 1803. Haiti's independence. Toussaint's general, Jean-Pierre Balthazard (1746-1803) (1746-1803), took up the fight for freedom when Toussaint had left. On January 1, 1804, General Dessalines declared the colony an independent country. It was the first black colony to free itself from European control. He called the country Haiti, which means "mountainous land" in the language of the native Arawak inhabitants of the island. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. What country is it? 2. Who is the leader of the revolution? 3. What reasons do they give for the revolution? 4. In what year do they achieve independence?
