Hi, I am planning and building my version of a 2x72 "belt grid for a certain number of years and I made some changes over the years to where I am now. Recently, a talented CAD user (who was building a grinder outside my plans) was courteous enough to model the grinder and each part inside a CAD platform and print the plans in pdf. From I posted my initial plans on this forum and some other forums in 2018, I sent these to at least A couple of people every week. I wanted to share the updated plans with all of you and if you check the link of floors below you will see my updated plans, including the CAD models. I also included a link to a construction where I show how to do one of These (which does not necessarily require a mill or very much more than a typical set of utensils for woodworking). Fall it! Thanks Brad Build along the link -> -Build-2013 .1577263/PDF of Plans and Lista parts-> 2020.pdf Thanks, Lord. You can never have grinder enough. Thanks ... very fig of plans. I have a start of mine! I have 3 short days in it so far and it is coming well. It is not beautiful as Brads, but it should work well. For tools I have a mini mill and a saw with carbide blade. The tutorial was a huge help and easy to follow. Thanks Bjansen I had a start on mine! I have 3 short days in it so far and it is coming well. It is not beautiful as Brads, but it should work well. For tools I have a mini mill and a saw with carbide blade. The tutorial was a huge help and easy to follow. How wonderful! How did you get the break for the engine worked so cleanly? I used 2 Ply 1/4 "sheets" Landa, in order to cut a hole in one. He had a 4th X4 sheet left by another project. Nice work! otut otut a5.4 id orof nu erarofrep etnemeciplmes "À erotom led otlov led ecnaraelc al ehc erenetto rep odom through the .500 sheet. It'll work just as well. Thanks, guys! I have a nice way to go again. I still have to make a plate, a rest of work, get VFD and 220 wired in my store. I used 2 sheets ply 1/4" there, then cut a hole in one. It had a 4'x4' sheet left by another project. Clever! I thought you had a type of cutter that would give you a mirrored neighboring finish without any sign of tools on a mini mill! I ran!!! I'm very happy with the way it works. Tracking works great and the strap runs straight. I only have a 1 hp engine, but it seems to be enough ($50 g to find). I went with a cheap Chinese VFD, so I wrapped it in a piece of oven filter. Overall I put about 30 hours in it, including the plaque and the rest. Thank you for sharing Brad!!! Thanks, guys! This construction was easier than I expected, my only regret is not doing it before. I'll go keep my eyes open for a 2 hp engine and upgrade later. I have nylon wheels from OBM, they're tracking well, so I'm not in a hurry to update them right now. Put us down for about 8 hours this weekend and love it! Solid machine looking, I'm barling between my construction or buying one. May I ask for cost estimate for materials to build that machine less your engine and VFD? courtesy photo: Witthaya Prasongsin/Moment/Getty Images Due to COVID-19 pandemic, unemployment rates rose sharply in the United States in the spring of 2020. By the end of April, 30 million Americans submitted an application for unemployment benefits. Even worse, months later, many people without work were still desperately trying to cut through all the red tape and the huge volume of people to present their claims toSince those first days of chaos, most states have adapted and made improvements to manage all claims.
